Biography

I grew up in the Engadine and have been cross-country skiing since I can remember, always happily chasing after my two sisters Selina and Elisa. When I was 7 years old, I started artistic gymnastics and then went to the gym several times a week for the next 10 years. After my greatest success of becoming Swiss Vice-Champion in the category 6 competition, and my fully packed weekly schedule with cross-country skiing training, piano lessons and everyday school life at secondary school, I wanted to concentrate on just one thing. It was at this time that my sisters gave me a biathlon rifle for my confirmation and this is how I discovered my passion for biathlon. I already took part in the World Championships, World Cups and even the Olympic Games Even during my youth and junior years. My performance curve hasn't risen so exponentially over the last two years, but I am very motivated and disciplined and train every day in order to establish myself as a world class professional.
