Biography

I grew up in the beautiful canton of Lucerne on a farm in Flühli. Helping out on the farm enabled me to enjoy the proximity to nature and the mountains early on. My father taught me and my three older brothers cross-country skiing because he also used to be a strong athlete.

I competed in my first competitions in kindergarten and since then I have been living and training for my passion. I have been a member of the Swiss-Ski cross-country team since 2008 and achieved my best career performance with an 8th place in the classic sprint at the 2015 World Championships in Falun, Sweden.

A childhood dream came true last winter when I qualified for the Olympic Winter Games in South Korea. This 8th place at the World Championships and my participation in the Olympics spur me on to train even harder so that I can fight for medals at major events.
